HUDSON

THE STEEP FACE

Together with the East River, the Hudson River is responsible for the maybe most important headland of the world: New York City. Big Apple's sky scrapers inspired the process of origins of this prismatic sink. The robust form and the pure shape of „HUDSON“ impress enthusiasts of reduced designs just as much as admirers of severe expression. At the same time, maximal compatibility is offered to its new owner in choice of placement of this iconic object.
